When we started the '70s Preservation Society, the cynics told us that the 1970s was an embarrassing decade in American history that could never measure up to the 1980s. Well, the cynics were wrong. Over 100,000 people have proven their allegiance to the 1970s by joining our Society and a comparison of the two decades demonstrates why it is highly unlikely that there will ever be an "'80s Preservation Society".
